

Barry Buddon Open Nature Day.

The next annual Barry Buddon Open Nature Day takes place on Sunday 8th September 2019 commencing at 10.00am.

It is an Open Day event covered by the bye-laws of Dundee/Angus. The day will start with a series of short presentations from local clubs representing The Scottish Wild Life Trust; The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds; The Scottish Ornithological Club; The Angus and Dundee Bird Club and The Dundee Naturalists Society.

Those wishing to attend should proceed (via the road past Monifieth Football Pitch car park) to the BBTC Main Camp Car Park situated on the left hand side of the access road as one approaches the Camp Compound meeting at 10.00am

(Sandpiper)

Following the aforementioned presentations attendees will be requested to car share thereby avoiding congestion. They will be free to join any one of four groups representing their specific interests:

- Birds,
- Butterfly's
- Plants/Orchids etc
- Moths.

Obviously any of the local clubs represented on the day would welcome anyone wishing to join them. The day normally ends at 4pm but anyone attending is free to leave earlier should they so wish.

There is no charge for attendance but Health and Safety must be observed in the interests of all present. Finally there is a break for lunch so do bring a pack lunch if attending and wear suitable attire for the occasion.

For CCDT Facebook page and to share to OurCarnoustie

Barry Buddon Open Nature Day. The next annual Barry Buddon Open Nature Day takes place on Sunday 8 September 2019 commencing at 10am. It is an Open Day event covered by the bye-laws of Dundee/Angus. Full details of the event covering location of meeting place, timings, activities and the expert Clubs/Groups represented can be found on the Carnoustie Community Development Trust website under the 'Friends of Barry Buddon' heading, or 'news'.